RECEIVED

CLERK OF COURT

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

COMES NOW, JENNIFER P. CLARK, the Plaintiff in the above-styled case, and brings forth this cause of action for defamation and preliminary and permanent injunctive relief, and as grounds thereto, submits the following:

JURISDICTION

1. That this Court retains jurisdiction and venue over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C.A. §1391 due to diversity of citizenship between the Plaintiff who is a resident of Mobile County, Alabama and an Alabama citizen, and the defendants Jason Deal and Paul Stanley who are Hall County, Georgia residents and citizens of the state of Georgia, and based upon the location of substantial events occurring, to wit: the defendants' publication of defamatory material against the Plaintiff to the Alabama State Bar Association ("ASB"), of which the Plaintiff is a member, located in Montgomery, Alabama, resulting in the ASB's investigation of the Plaintiff. Title 28 U.S.C.A. §1391, provides three opportunities for venue in cases where subject matter jurisdiction is based solely on diversity of citizenship. One such opportunity is the following:

(2) WHERE SUBSTANTIAL EVENTS OR OMISSIONS OCCURRED:

in any judicial district where a substantial part of the relevant events occurred, or where a substantial part of the property that gave rise to the action is found, such as a district in which damage occurred in a tort case, or where performance was to have occurred in a contract action. (Emphasis added.) Citing Federal Civil Rules Handbook, 2007 Ed.

2. The case in controversy exceeds $75,000, to wit: the Plaintiff is suing for damages in the amount of $10,000,000.00 against defendant Deal, and $10,000,000.00 against defendant Stanley.
3. That the Plaintiff is a permanent resident of Mobile County, Alabama and an Alabama citizen, over the age of nineteen years, and licensed to practice law in the state of Alabama.
4. That the Alabama State Bar Association is headquartered in Montgomery, Alabama, which lies within Alabama's Middle District of the United States District Court. Certain defamatory material was published to the Alabama State Bar alleging professional misconduct against the Plaintiff.

5. That Jason Deal is over the age of nineteen years, and a Hall County, Georgia resident and Georgia citizen employed as a Superior Court Judge in Hall County, Georgia.
6. That Paul Stanley is over the age of nineteen years and a Hall County, Georgia resident and Georgia citizen practicing law with a Georgia law license in Gainesville, Georgia.
7. That on February 13, 2008, the Plaintiff served an antelitem notice upon the State of Georgia, Department of Administrative Services, Risk Management Division as dictated by O.C.G.A. §50-21-26, and said correspondence is attached as EXHIBIT G, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.

DEFAMATION

8. That the preceding paragraphs are realleged and reincorporated as if fully set forth herein.
9. That on March 29, 2007, in the clear absence of all jurisdiction, Jason Deal caused to be published a defamatory "court order" falsely alleging ex parte communications by the undersigned. Said Order is attached as EXHIBIT A, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.

10. That said defamatory "order" of March 29, 2007, was published as a matter of public record in Hall County Superior Court via Larry Clark v. City of Flowery Branch, Georgia, et al., 2003-CV-2830-C, with the Alabama State Bar Association.
11. That said defamatory "order" was published with the Alabama State Bar Association ("ASB") in Montgomery, Alabama which elected to pursue a full investigation of said allegation and is considering disciplinary sanctions against the Plaintiff. The ASB's letter to Plaintiff dated January 7, 2008, is attached as EXHIBIT K, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.
12. That Paul Stanley gained access to said defamatory "order" and published same with the Alabama State Bar Association and has refused to give a public retraction for said false and baseless allegations of ex parte communications.
13. That Jason Deal refused to give a public retraction of said false and baseless allegation of ex parte communications.
14. That Jason Deal who is employed as a Superior Court Judge in Hall County, Georgia, does not enjoy judicial immunity because he was not acting in an official capacity when he entered this defamatory "order" dated March 29, 2007. By publishing this defamatory "order", Deal acted in the clear absence of personal or subject matter jurisdiction and does not enjoy judicial immunity. Deal had no involvement with said case whatsoever as he had recused himself twenty nine (29) days earlier from Clark v. Flowery Branch, et al., 2003-CV-2830-C due to the undersigned filing a complaint with the Judicial Qualifications Commission based upon his defamatory order dated July 14 and 15, 2006. Said Order of Recusal dated February 28, 2007, is attached as EXHIBIT B, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.

REQUEST FOR PRELIMINARY AND PERMANENT INJUNCTION

15. That the preceding paragraphs are realleged and reincorporated as if fully set forth herein.
16. The Plaintiff requests injunctive relief quashing and holding for naught two "orders" written by Deal. The first defamatory "order" was dated July 15, 2006, but file stamped a day earlier, July 14, 2006. This "order" is referenced as "order of July 14 and 15, 2006. That defamatory "order" is attached as EXHIBIT C and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.
17. The Plaintiff's immediate response to that defamatory "order", dated July 20, 2006, is attached as EXHIBIT D, which was served upon all counsel of record (EXHIBIT E), and both exhibits are referenced as if fully incorporated herein.

18. Thereafter, on February 28, 2007, Deal recused himself from Clark v. Flowery Branch, et al, 2003-CV-2830-C, and said Order is attached as EXHIBIT B, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. As grounds for his recusal, Deal cites the fact that the Plaintiff had filed a Complaint with the Judicial Qualifications Commission based upon his defamatory "order" of July 14 and 15, 2006. Said Complaint to the Judicial Qualifications Commission ("JQC") dated February 23, 2007, and filed stamped with the Hall County Superior Court Clerk's office on February 26, 2007, is attached as EXHIBIT H, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. Said Complaint contains:

- (a) Grievance form dated February 23, 2007;
- (b) Letter to JQC dated February 23, 2007;
- (c) Deal's defamatory "Order On Application for Admission" dated July 14 and 15, 2006;
- (d) Plaintiff's response to Deal's "Order On Application for Admission" dated July 20, 2006;
- (e) Letter to all counsel of record serving them with Plaintiff's letter of July 20, 2006.

19. On March 21, 2007, the Plaintiff acting in good faith, gave Deal a final opportunity to correct the record and give public retraction for the defamatory allegations of professional misconduct alleged in said "order" of July 14 and 15, 2006. Plaintiff's letter to Deal dated March 21, 2007 is attached as EXHIBIT F, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. Deal refused to give said public retraction and thereafter arrogantly entered a second defamatory "order" alleging ex parte communications in the matter of Clark v. Flowery Branch, et al., 2003-CV-2830-C. Said "order" is attached as EXHIBIT A, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein.

20. Both of Deal's defamatory Orders were entered knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth and the Plaintiff has suffered damages due to Deal's defamatory statements. Deal's statement in the form of an "order" dated March 29, 2007, is not a legitimate Order, and the Plaintiff requests that it be stricken from public record and held for naught both in Georgia and Alabama due to the fact that Deal had no involvement whatsoever in that litigation styled Clark v. Flowery Branch, et al, 2003-CV-2830-C, as he had recused himself on February 28, 2007. Said "order" was written twenty-nine (29) days after his recusal from the case, and written in the clear absence of any jurisdiction whatsoever, and accordingly Deal is not entitled to judicial immunity.

21. That the allegations of professional misconduct and the status of her pro hac vice status in the July 14 and 15, 2006 "order" are not true. The Plaintiff's request for public retraction was set forth in her letters to Deal dated July 20, 2006, and March 21, 2007, which are attached as EXHIBITS D and F, respectively, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. Deal refused to make public retraction of said allegations.
22. That the Plaintiff is entitled to the requested injunctive relief and submits the following: (1) that she has a substantial likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying case when it is ultimately tried; (2) that irreparable injury during the pendency of the suit will be suffered unless the injunction issues immediately; (3) the threatened injury to the movant outweighs whatever damage the proposed injunction may cause the opposing party; and (4) that if issued, the injunction would not be adverse to the public interest, and (5) that there is no other adequate remedy at law available to the Plaintiff.
23. The Plaintiff respectfully requests a hearing on these matters.

DAMAGES - DEFENDANT STANLEY

24. That the preceding paragraphs are realleged and reincorporated as if fully set forth herein.
25. That defendant Paul Stanley knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth, published a defamatory document making the false allegation of ex parte communications which resulted in investigation by the Alabama State Bar Association and possibly the compromise of the Plaintiff's law license. Stanley was provided evidence by the Plaintiff that said allegation was false and he refused to give a public retraction for same. Moreover, more than five days prior to the filing of this Complaint, Plaintiff served Stanley with a request for public retraction pursuant to Alabama Code §6-5-186, and he refused to comply. Said letter is attached as EXHIBIT I, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. Accordingly, Plaintiff is seeking punitive damages against Stanley for said defamation.
26. That the Plaintiff has suffered damage to her professionally due to this baseless allegation, and due to the Alabama State Bar's investigation of same.
27. That the Plaintiff demands damages from defendant Stanley in the amount of $10,000,000.00 including actual, incidental, compensatory, punitive and all damages available at law.

DAMAGES - DEFENDANT DEAL

28. That the preceding paragraphs are realleged and reincorporated as if fully set forth herein.
29. That defendant Deal knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth, published false allegations of ex parte communications as a matter of public record, and said public record was published with the Alabama State Bar, who is conducting a full investigation of these defamatory allegations against the Plaintiff.
30. That the Plaintiff was served with defendant Deal was given evidence of his false allegations, and he refused to give a public retraction of same. Moreover, more than five days prior to the filing of this Complaint, Plaintiff served Deal with a request for public retraction pursuant to Alabama Code §6-5-186, and he refused to comply. Said letter is attached as EXHIBIT J, and referenced as if fully incorporated herein. Accordingly, Plaintiff is seeking punitive damages against Deal for said defamation.
31. That the Plaintiff demands damages from defendant Deal in the amount of $10,000,000.00 including actual, incidental, compensatory and punitive damages, and all damages available at law.

JURY DEMAND

The Plaintiff respectfully demands trial by jury as to both defendant Stanley and defendant Deal.

Respectfully submitted,

ORDER ON APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

This matter is before the Court on the submission of an Application for Admission by Jennifer P. Clark, Esquire, for permission to appear pro hac vice in the above-styled civil action. The applicant petitioned this Court on July 9, 2006. After a review of the applicable law and in consideration of prior proceedings in this case, the Court hereby enters the following order:

Pursuant to Rule 4.4 of the Uniform Rules of Superior Courts, this Court has authority to consider the applicant's request. CSX Transp., Inc. v. McCord, 202 Ga. App. 365 (1991), cert. denied, 202 Ga. App. 905, 414 S.E.2d 508 (1991). A court may, in its discretion, deny such application if the court finds inter alia that such admission: a) may be detrimental to the prompt, fair and efficient administration of justice; b) may be detrimental to the legitimate interests of parties to the proceedings other than the client the applicant proposes to represent; or c) one or more of the clients the applicant proposes to represent may be at risk of receiving inadequate representation and cannot adequately appreciate that risk. See U.S.C.R. 4.4(D)(3). Furthermore, admission to appear pro hac vice, once granted, may be revoked for any of the reasons listed in Section (D)(3) above. See U.S.C.R. 4.4(D)(4).

Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by Order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions. The parties have been admonished by the undersigned and Judge John E. Girardeau, to whom the case was formerly assigned, through recurring orders of contempt, protective orders and orders compelling discovery or quashing discovery motions. Moreover, the Court has on multiple occasions awarded attorney's fees against Plaintiff while represented by Ms. Clark as co-counsel, along with two different in-state attorneys.

With regard to Ms. Clark's status, this Court entered an Order dated November 14, 2005 whereby Ms. Clark and attorney William Casey were ordered to withdraw from the case by November 15, 2005, or as soon as practicable. The Court further stated that Ms. Clark and Mr. Casey were to have no further involvement in the proceedings in the above-styled case. See Civil Action File No. 2003-CV-2830-C, Consent Order, dated November 14 2005 and Order, Dated March 30, 2005, reaffirming same. At that time, attorney E. Paul Stanley was substituted as lead counsel in the case, with out-of-state attorney Braxton Blake Lowe remaining with pro hac vice permission.

Based on the foregoing Order unequivocally revoking Ms. Clark's pro hac vice status, and the Court's review of Ms. Clark's involvement in the above-styled case prior to this Court revoking her permission to appear, the Application for Admission is hereby DENIED.

It is the understanding of this Court that Mr. John D. Stone and Mr. Braxton Blake Lowe intend to represent the Plaintiff as in-state counsel and counsel pro hac vice, respectively, unless and until the Court is otherwise notified.

SO ORDERED, this 15 day of July, 2006.

Re: Order on Application for Admission
2003-CV-2830-C

Dear Judge Deal,

I received your order dated July 14, 2006. The court's order makes certain factual allegations upon which it relies in deciding this motion. Page two of this court's order reads:

"Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by Order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions."

Undersigned applicant submits that she has exercised professional behavior in every encounter before this court and during the entire process of representing the Plaintiff in this case. She specifically asks the court to identify the combative behavior upon which it relies in denying her admission to represent the Plaintiff under Rule 4.4, Uniform Superior Court Rules. The court should note that it is inherent in our judicial system that the process of litigation is an adversarial one, and that even in Georgia,

Jason Deal
July 20, 2006
Page Two

It is fairly typical that opposing parties have different perspectives on issues relating to their respective posture in the case. In order for this process to be effective, the court must be impartial and unbiased, and this court's order does not appear to be that. If this court finds minor discovery disputes inappropriate or offensive, perhaps he should recuse himself, and have the clerk's office assign the case to another Superior Court judge more capable of handling such issues.

Also, the Plaintiff has supplied every piece of discovery requested by the defendants without the necessity of a hearing. The defendant's, on the other hand, refused to provide specific official city minutes upon request by the Plaintiff. The single outstanding piece of discovery by the Plaintiff constituted a lease agreement between the Plaintiff and tenant, Rip Burch. Not only did the city have a key to Mr. Burch's residence from the early phase of discovery, but they had absolute access to the premises to conduct any test, survey or evaluation that it deemed necessary. Without a hearing or any type of evidentiary finding, Judge Girardeau entered an order for attorney's fees with respect to this single issue of the lease agreement. Accordingly, the undersigned asks this court to identify the substantive portion of discovery marked as a "repeated delay".

With respect to discovery issues, the court will be advised that the defendants have consistently abused the rules of discovery throughout this case. Plaintiff's counsel was not noticed for the taking of witness depositions. Acting in good faith, as he has throughout the course of this litigation, his counsel of record appeared for depositions, whether noticed or not, without filing objections with the court in an effort to effectuate prompt discovery and move the case forward.

The court's order goes on to imply that, somehow, the undersigned applicant was responsible for problems with the scheduling of mediation. If not for the undersigned's participation in following up with Stanley and Lowe, the mediation would have never been scheduled in a timely manner.

Incidentally, the court will note that the undersigned applicant had withdrawn when it was agreed upon to pursue mediation. If anything, undersigned counsel would have prevented any problems with scheduling of mediation. Also, the court will note that it was the defendants who refused to agree to mediate while the undersigned was Plaintiff's counsel of record. The problems with mediation would have been prevented with the representation of the undersigned applicant, so long as the court upheld its order to the parties to mediate.

It is perplexing that this court has assigned these issues as being the Plaintiff's responsibility, and cited as authority to deny the undersigned's admission. The defendants have never requested mediation, and certainly the Plaintiff has never refused to mediate. In fact, the defendants have only acted reluctantly to the court's order to pursue mediation.

The order accuses undersigned counsel of failing to comply with the court's instructions. Undersigned counsel knows of no instruction by Judge Girardeau or this court that she or the Plaintiff has failed to abide by. She asks this court to identify the instruction or instructions that it relies upon in that statement.

The court's order accuses undersigned applicant of "recurring orders of contempt". The undersigned applicant has never been held in contempt of court in this, nor any other jurisdiction. She asks this court to identify the said order upon which it relies in making that statement. The allegation of the undersigned's contemptuous conduct, presumably in this court, is untrue and certainly demonstrates a bias against this applicant and the Plaintiff.

The court's order next states that the court has "on multiple occasions awarded attorney's fees against Plaintiff while represented by Mr. Clark as co-counsel, along with two different in-state attorneys." Former Judge

Jason Deal
 Page Four

Girardeau, on a single occasion and without a hearing, awarded attorney's fees on the single discovery issue regarding the lease of the property made the basis of this litigation as discussed in the preceding paragraphs. This particular lease was produced at the deposition of Rilda Clark, however Mr. Hamilton waived its production by not requesting it. There has never been a showing of how this lease is material to the city's case, and the trial court has shown absolutely no interest in the Plaintiff's position on any issue including discovery matters. Each and every request for hearing on discovery matters by the Plaintiff was summarily denied. The undersigned applicant asks this court to identify the "multiple occasions" upon which this court awarded attorney's fees, and state grounds upon which same is justified.

Also, this court sarcastically addresses the Plaintiff's retention of two different in-state attorneys. This court allowed the withdrawal of attorney Paul Stanley stating that there were no objections by the client. Apparently, the court did not read its own order before executing it, or it patently disregarded the testimony taken at the hearings of February 27 and April 26, 2006, at which numerous issues surrounding local counsel were addressed. Paul Stanley addressed the court as follows:

"Your Honor, I am withdrawing my motion to withdraw. And I will state to the court and opposing counsel that I have now been compensated for the entire case, so I will be here through the duration of the case."

It is inconceivable that the court could find Stanley's withdrawal appropriate after his statement to the court and after the following portion of the Plaintiff's exchange with the court on April 26, 2006.

"I never asked him to resign. I never asked him to quit. I never asked him to withdraw."

The court's order allowing Stanley's withdrawal contains factual misstatements and is ethically questionable.

Jasen Deal
Page Five

This court's contrite order allowing Stanley to withdraw from this case under these conditions was factually incorrect, ethically questionable and left the Plaintiff without local counsel to whom attorney's fees had been paid in full.

The court's order is more questionable concerning the court's bias against the Plaintiff due to the fact that it was filed with the Hall County Clerk's office on July 14, 2006, however it was not executed until July 15, 2006.

Because of the foregoing pages of misstated facts relied upon in denying the undersigned applicant's motion to enroll as counsel for Plaintiff, she can only assume that this court did not read its order before executing it or ignored material facts relevant to these issues. Undersigned applicant further asks this Court to state whether the defendants supplied the court's Order On Application for Admission. The undersigned notes that it was filed July 14, 2006, but not executed until the following day.

Based upon the previous pages of misstated facts relied upon in the court's denial of undersigned applicant's motion to enroll pro hac vice, it is obvious that this court is biased and cannot and/or will not give the Plaintiff a fair trial in this cause of action.

I will appreciate your immediate response to these inquiries. If you have questions or wish to discuss this correspondence with me further, you may call me.

Sincerely,

Signed in Original

Re: Clark v. City of Flowery Branch, et al.
2003-CV-2830-C

Dear Counsel,

Enclosed please find a courtesy copy of the letter sent to Judge Deal in response to his Order on Application For Admission. Along with the Plaintiff, I am an owner of the property made the basis of this litigation. Unfortunately, based upon the course of this litigation and the court's latest Order, I find the court to have an overbearing bias against the Plaintiff's interest, and in order to protect that interest, this letter was necessary.

If you have questions or need additional information, please call me at the number above.

*Re: Order Dated July 14, 2006 Denying Application For Admission
Case No. 2003-CV-2830-C*

Dear Mr. Deal,

This correspondence will be my final attempt to have you correct your Order dated July 14, 2006 denying my Application For Admission in the above-styled case. You denied that Application based on the following statements:

"Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions. The parties have been admonished by the undersigned and Judge John E. Girardeau, to whom the case was formerly assigned, through recurring orders of contempt, protective orders and orders compelling discovery or quashing discovery motions."

As I have previously stated to you, those allegations are not true. I have never been combative in your courtroom, nor has there been a repeated delay in progression of discovery on my part or the Plaintiff's. Moreover, I have never been the cause of a delay in the scheduling of mediation, nor have I failed to abide by a legitimate court order, and I have certainly never been held in contempt of court in this, nor any other jurisdiction. Lastly, I have never been admonished by former Judge Girardeau, and never by this Court prior to this order.

I have addressed this issue with you numerous times in open court, via correspondence, and with the Judicial Qualifications Commission, however you refuse to identify the conduct made the basis of that Order. As a member of a State Bar Association, I find your refusal to address these issues, and more importantly, your refusal to correct your error, to be most unprofessional. Also, your conduct and baseless order has seriously jeopardized the Plaintiff's posture with respect to legal representation. I have given you several opportunities to correct yourself, and you have refused to do so.

It appears from your Order that you have published it with the Office of the General Counsel of the State Bar of Georgia, and it remains a public record in the Hall County court file. I believe those allegations to be slanderous and/or libelous to my professional reputation, as I take great pride in my professional conduct, and accordingly, am left with no choice but to file suit against you if those statements are not withdrawn, and a formal apology made to me immediately. If I do not hear from you regarding this matter by March 30, 2007, I intend to file a civil suit against you based upon your statements.

If you wish to discuss this matter further, you may call me at the number above.

Sincerely,

JENNIFER P. CLARK

Re: Ante-Litem Notice as Required by O.C.G.A. §50-21-26

Dear Ms. Kidd,

This correspondence is submitted pursuant to O.C.G.A. §50-21-26, as the required ante litem notice against a state official. Jason J. Deal is a Superior Court Judge in and for the Northeastern Judicial Circuit. He has entered two defamatory Orders against me.

On July 14 & 15, 2006, he stated the following:

"Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions. The parties have been admonished by the undersigned and Judge John E. Girardeau, to whom the case was formerly assigned, through recurring orders of contempt, protective orders and orders compelling discovery or quashing discovery motions.

Based on the foregoing Order unequivocally revoking Ms. Clark's pro hac vice status, and the Court's review of Ms. Clark's involvement in the above-styled case prior to this Court revoking her permission to appear, the Application for Admission is hereby DENIED."

Ms. Candy Kidd, Director
Risk Management Division
February 13, 2008

As I have stated on the record with Deal on several occasions, the undersigned has never been combative in a courtroom, or responsible for the delay in the progression of discovery and the scheduling of mediation. The undersigned has never been admonished by former Judge John Girardeau. In fact, Girardeau never gave this case the benefit of a hearing on any pending motion, including the award of attorney's fees. At that time, the undersigned had never been held in contempt of court in the Georgia courts nor any other jurisdiction. Moreover, she has never had her pro hac vice status revoked in the Georgia nor any other jurisdiction.

On March 29, 2007, Deal published a second defamatory Order alleging improper ex parte communications by the undersigned. Certain relative documents are submitted for your review of that false and malicious allegation. These documents were previously submitted to you via certified mail on February 11, 2008.

Deal's Orders were made a matter of public record in Clark v. Flowery Branch, et al., 2003-CV-2830-C, and upon information and belief, were also were published with the Georgia State Bar. As a result of said Orders, the Alabama State Bar, which the undersigned is currently a member in good standing, is conducting an investigation and considering disciplinary sanctions.

The following information is submitted pursuant to O.C.G.A. §50-21-26(5).

- (a) Jason J. Deal, Superior Court Judge, Northeastern Judicial Circuit;
- (b) July 14 & 15, 2006 and March 29, 2007;
- (c) Made public in court file of Hall County Clerk's Office, 2003-CV-2830-C, and the State Bar of Georgia;
- (d) Defamation to professional reputation;
- (e) $10,000,000.00
- (f) Jason Deal's Court Orders of July 14 & 15, 2006 and March 29, 2007.

If you have questions or need additional information pertaining to this matter, please call me at the number above.

Sincerely,

*Re: Judge Jason J. Deal
Superior Court, Northeastern Judicial Circuit
Larry H. Clark v. City of Flowery Branch, et al.
2003-CV-2830-C*

Dear Sir or Madam:

Please accept this correspondence as a formal grievance against Superior Court Judge Jason J. Deal of the Northeastern Judicial Circuit. I am an attorney licensed in the state of Alabama, and enrolled in 2003 as counsel, pro hac vice, to the Plaintiff, Larry H. Clark, who is joining me in this grievance. I filed the initial Complaint, and was attorney of record for approximately three years of litigation. Other attorneys enrolled as counsel to the Plaintiff and later withdrew. The Plaintiff was left without counsel, and I then applied to re-enroll as his counsel. That application to re-enroll was denied Judge Jason Deal citing a litany of false allegations as follows:

"[C]ombative behavior, repeated delay in progression of discovery, scheduling of mediations and compliance with the Court's instructions. The parties have been admonished by the undersigned and Judge John E. Girardeau, to whom the case was formerly assigned, through recurring orders of contempt, protective orders and orders compelling discovery or quashing discovery motions." (Order Attached as Exhibit A).

Judicial Qualifications Commission

I am an attorney licensed in the state of Alabama in good standing, and have never been held in contempt of court in the Northeastern Judicial Circuit, nor any other jurisdiction. I have never been admonished by Jason Deal prior to this court order, nor John Girardeau, in fact, Girardeau has never given this case the benefit of a hearing on any pending motion, including the award of attorney's fees. Moreover, I have never acted in a combative manner in a courtroom in any jurisdiction, nor have I failed to comply with a legitimate court order. Upon receiving this order, I immediately filed with the court a letter addressing his false statements and requested his immediate attention in identifying or correcting the facts made the basis of his ruling. (Exhibit B). He refused to respond to that inquiry. Moreover, at the hearing on December 12, 2006, I addressed the issue on the record, and he refused to respond or offer justification for his ruling. His statements were slanderous to my professional reputation, and flatly false. I have ordered the transcript of December 12, 2006, and will immediately mark it as an exhibit to this grievance when received.

I take great pride in my profession, and conduct myself accordingly. I take very seriously the slanderous and unprofessional statements made by Jason Deal in his public court order, and have given him every opportunity to correct himself. These allegations are without merit, and he has refused to tender a rationale for his behavior. Because of Deal's unprofessional behavior and refusal to address his false statements, I am left with the unfortunate alternative of filing this grievance with your agency. I am requesting your assistance in addressing this matter as it directly affects the appearance of my professional integrity, as well as the appearance of fairness, impartiality and integrity of the Georgia bench. I look forward to your assistance.

Sincerely,

JENNIFER P. CLARK (CLA075)

CIVIL ACTION FILE

CASE NO. 2003-CV-2830-C

ORDER ON APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

This matter is before the Court on the submission of an Application for Admission by Jennifer P. Clark, Esquire, for permission to appear pro hac vice in the above-styled civil action. The applicant petitioned this Court on July 9, 2006. After a review of the applicable law and in consideration of prior proceedings in this case, the Court hereby enters the following order:

Pursuant to Rule 4.4 of the Uniform Rules of Superior Courts, this Court has authority to consider the applicant's request. CSX Transp., Inc. v. McCord, 202 Ga. App. 365 (1991), cert. denied, 202 Ga. App. 905, 414 S.E.2d 508 (1991). A court may, in its discretion, deny such application if the court finds inter alia that such admission: a) may be detrimental to the prompt, fair and efficient administration of justice; b) may be detrimental to the legitimate interests of parties to the proceedings other than the client the applicant proposes to represent; or c) one or more of the clients the applicant proposes to represent may be at risk of receiving inadequate representation and cannot adequately appreciate that risk. See U.S.C.R. 4.4(D)(3). Furthermore, admission to appear pro hac vice, once granted, may be revoked for any of the reasons listed in Section (D)(3) above. See U.S.C.R. 4.4(D)(4).

Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by Order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions. The parties have been admonished by the undersigned and Judge John E. Girardeau, to whom the case was formerly assigned, through recurring orders of contempt, protective orders and orders compelling discovery or quashing discovery motions. Moreover, the Court has on multiple occasions awarded attorney's fees against Plaintiff while represented by Ms. Clark as co-counsel, along with two different in-state attorneys.

With regard to Ms. Clark's status, this Court entered an Order dated November 14, 2005 whereby Ms. Clark and attorney William Casey were ordered to withdraw from the case by November 15, 2005, or as soon as practicable. The Court further stated that Ms. Clark and Mr. Casey were to have no further involvement in the proceedings in the above-styled case. See Civil Action File No. 2003-CV-2830-C, Consent Order, dated November 14 2005 and Order, Dated March 30, 2005, reaffirming same. At that time, attorney E. Paul Stanley was substituted as lead counsel in the case, with out-of-state attorney Braxton Blake Lowe remaining with pro hac vice permission.

JUL-17-2006 10:47 FROM DX-1000 (NAME) 01.05 5M TO 12514327978

Based on the foregoing Order unequivocally revoking Ms. Clark's pro hac vice status, and the Court's review of Ms. Clark's involvement in the above-styled case prior to this Court revoking her permission to appear, the Application for Admission is hereby DENIED.

It is the understanding of this Court that Mr. John D. Stone and Mr. Braxton Blake Lowe intend to represent the Plaintiff as in-state counsel and counsel pro hac vice, respectively, unless and until the Court is otherwise notified.

SO ORDERED, this 15 day of July, 2006.

Re: Order on Application for Admission
2003-CV-2830-C

Dear Judge Deal,

I received your order dated July 14, 2006. The court's order makes certain factual allegations upon which it relies in deciding this motion. Page two of this court's order reads:

"Reviewing the procedural history of the instant matter, Plaintiff filed this suit for damages on October 30, 2003. Thereafter, Ms. Clark was permitted to appear pro hac vice by Order of the Court dated November 12, 2003. The Court notes that since that time, the proceedings have been marked by combative behavior between the parties as well as repeated delay in the progression of discovery, scheduling of mediation and compliance with the Court's instructions."

Undersigned applicant submits that she has exercised professional behavior in every encounter before this court and during the entire process of representing the Plaintiff in this case. She specifically asks the court to identify the combative behavior upon which it relies in denying her admission to represent the Plaintiff under Rule 4.4, Uniform Superior Court Rules. The court should note that it is inherent in our judicial system that the process of litigation is an adversarial one, and that even in Georgia,

Jason Deal

it is fairly typical that opposing parties have different perspectives on issues relating to their respective posture in the case. In order for this process to be effective, the court must be impartial and unbiased, and this court's order does not appear to be that. If this court finds minor discovery disputes inappropriate or offensive, perhaps he should recuse himself, and have the clerk's office assign the case to another Superior Court judge more capable of handling such issues.

Also, the Plaintiff has supplied every piece of discovery requested by the defendants without the necessity of a hearing. The defendant's, on the other hand, refused to provide specific official city minutes upon request by the Plaintiff. The single outstanding piece of discovery by the Plaintiff constituted a lease agreement between the Plaintiff and tenant, Kip Burch. Not only did the city have a key to Mr. Burch's residence from the early phase of discovery, but they had absolute access to the premises to conduct any test, survey or evaluation that it deemed necessary. Without a hearing or any type of evidentiary finding, Judge Girardeau entered an order for attorney's fees with respect to this single issue of the lease agreement. Accordingly, the undersigned asks this court to identify the substantive portion of discovery marked as a "repeated delay".

With respect to discovery issues, the court will be advised that the defendants have consistently abused the rules of discovery throughout this case. Plaintiff's counsel was not noticed for the taking of witness depositions. Acting in good faith, as he has throughout the course of this litigation, his counsel of record appeared for depositions, whether noticed or not, without filing objections with the court in an effort to effectuate prompt discovery and move the case forward.

The court's order goes on to imply that, somehow, the undersigned applicant was responsible for problems with the scheduling of mediation. If not for the undersigned's participation in following up with Stanley and Lowe, the mediation would have never been scheduled in a timely manner.

Incidentally, the court will note that the undersigned applicant had withdrawn when it was agreed upon to pursue mediation. If anything, undersigned counsel would have prevented any problems with scheduling of mediation. Also, the court will note that it was the defendants who refused to agree to mediate while the undersigned was Plaintiff's counsel of record. The problems with mediation would have been prevented with the representation of the undersigned applicant, so long as the court upheld its order to the parties to mediate.

It is perplexing that this court has assigned these issues as being the Plaintiff's responsibility, and cited as authority to deny the undersigned's admission. The defendants have never requested mediation, and certainly the Plaintiff has never refused to mediate. In fact, the defendants have only acted reluctantly to the court's order to pursue mediation.

The order accuses undersigned counsel of failing to comply with the court's instructions. Undersigned counsel knows of no instruction by Judge Girardeau or this court that she or the Plaintiff has failed to abide by. She asks this court to identify the instruction or instructions that it relies upon in that statement.

The court's order accuses undersigned applicant of "recurring orders of contempt". The undersigned applicant has never been held in contempt of court in this, nor any other jurisdiction. She asks this court to identify the said order upon which it relies in making that statement. The allegation of the undersigned's contemptuous conduct, presumably in this court, is untrue and certainly demonstrates a bias against this applicant and the Plaintiff.

The court's order next states that the court has "on multiple occasions awarded attorney's fees against Plaintiff while represented by Ms. Clark as co-counsel, along with two different in-state attorneys." Former Judge

Jason Deal
Page Four

Girardeau, on a single occasion and without a hearing, awarded attorney's fees on the single discovery issue regarding the lease of the property made the basis of this litigation as discussed in the preceding paragraphs. This particular lease was produced at the deposition of Hilda Clark, however Mr. Hamilton waived its production by not requesting it. There has never been a showing of how this lease is material to the city's case, and the trial court has shown absolutely no interest in the Plaintiff's position on any issue including discovery matters. Each and every request for hearing on discovery matters by the Plaintiff was summarily denied. The undersigned applicant asks this court to identify the "multiple occasions" upon which this court awarded attorney's fees, and state grounds upon which same is justified.

Also, this court sarcastically addresses the Plaintiff's retention of two different in-state attorneys. This court allowed the withdrawal of attorney Paul Stanley stating that there were no objections by the client. Apparently, the court did not read its own order before executing it, or it patently disregarded the testimony taken at the hearings of February 27 and April 26, 2006, at which numerous issues surrounding local counsel were addressed. Paul Stanley addressed the court as follows:

"Your Honor, I am withdrawing my motion to withdraw. And I will state to the court and opposing counsel that I have now been compensated for the entire case, so I will be here through the duration of the case."

It is inconceivable that the court could find Stanley's withdrawal appropriate after his statement to the court and after the following portion of the Plaintiff's exchange with the court on April 26, 2006.

"I never asked him to resign. I never asked him to quit. I never asked him to withdraw."

The court's order allowing Stanley's withdrawal contains factual misstatements and is ethically questionable.

Jason Deal
July 20, 2006
Page Five

This court's contrite order allowing Stanley to withdraw from this case under these conditions was factually incorrect, ethically questionable and left the Plaintiff without local counsel to whom attorney's fees had been paid in full.

The court's order is more questionable concerning the court's bias against the Plaintiff due to the fact that it was filed with the Hall County Clerk's office on July 14, 2006, however it was not executed until July 15, 2006.

Because of the foregoing pages of misstated facts relied upon in denying the undersigned applicant's motion to enroll as counsel for Plaintiff, she can only assume that this court did not read its order before executing it or ignored material facts relevant to these issues. Undersigned applicant further asks this Court to state whether the defendants supplied the court's Order On Application for Admission. The undersigned notes that it was filed July 14, 2006, but not executed until the following day.

Based upon the previous pages of misstated facts relied upon in the court's denial of undersigned applicant's motion to enroll pro hac vice, it is obvious that this court is biased and cannot and/or will not give the Plaintiff a fair trial in this cause of action.

I will appreciate your immediate response to these inquiries. If you have questions or wish to discuss this correspondence with me further, you may call me.

Sincerely,

Signed in Original

Dear Counsel,

Enclosed please find a courtesy copy of the letter sent to Judge Deal in response to his Order on Application For Admission. Along with the Plaintiff, I am an owner of the property made the basis of this litigation. Unfortunately, based upon the course of this litigation and the court's latest Order, I find the court to have an overbearing bias against the Plaintiff's interest, and in order to protect that interest, this letter was necessary.

If you have questions or need additional information, please call me at the number above.

Dear Ms. Feeney,

This correspondence will request that E. Paul Stanley make a full and public retraction of his defamatory allegations published against the undersigned alleging unauthorized practice of law pertaining to the exercise of the undersigned's Power of Attorney over Larry Clark's affairs, and ex parte communications in 2007-CV-2830-C. Said allegations are not true and if Mr. Stanley does not make said full and public retraction by Friday, March 7, 2008, I intend to file suit against Stanley and all proper defendants seeking legal remedy, including punitive damages.

Your immediate attention is appreciated.

Sincerely,

JENNIFER P. CLARK

*Re: Orders Dated July 14 and 15, 2006 and March 29, 2007
2003-CV-2830-C*

Mr. Deal,

This correspondence will serve as my final request that you take the necessary legal action to withdraw and hold for naught your Orders dated July 14 and 15, 2006 and March 29, 2007 in the above-styled case. These Orders contain blatant dishonest and defamatory allegations regarding professional conduct, pro hac vice status and ex parte communications, and both were entered without personal or subject matter jurisdiction. I will expect you to take said legal action to vacate these orders in their entirety by Monday, February 25, 2008, or I will have no alternative to filing suit against you for damages. These defamatory Orders have lead to investigation by the Alabama State Bar Association who is considering disciplinary sanctions. In sharp contrast to your cowardice in prior litigation, I challenge you to submit to a deposition regarding your allegations.

As a courtesy, I have enclosed the following material:

- a) your defamatory Order of July 14 and 15, 2006;
- b) my letter to you dated July 20, 2006 and filed with the Court;
- c) my letter to opposing counsel addressing service of said letter dated July 21, 2006;
- d) your Order recusing yourself from 2003-CV-2830-C dated February 28, 2007 (Order on Plaintiff's Motion to Recuse);
- e) my letter to you dated March 21, 2007 threatening legal action for defamation pursuant to said Order; and
- f) your defamatory Order of March 29, 2007 alleging improper ex parte communications.

Your immediate attention is expected and appreciated.
